THE ESCALATION WORKSHOP

Members of the community—particularly parents of high school students—are invited to experience a powerful, 90-minute film-based workshop about relationship violence produced by the OneLove Foundation and presented locally in conjunction with the Lauren Dunne Astley Memorial Fund.

The short film “Escalation” tells the story of two relatable college students who fall in love, but whose relationship ultimately turns violent. After a screening of the film, participants are encouraged to talk about relationship violence in a group conversation led by trained facilitators. The workshop has been offered at Wayland High School, and in May seniors at LSRHS will have the opportunity to take part in the Escalation Workshop as part of the LSRHS “Courage to Care Conference.”

THURSDAY, MAY 4, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.

Lincoln-Sudbury Regional High School Auditorium

390 Lincoln Road, Sudbury

About OneLove: On May 3, 2010, University of Virginia senior Yeardley Love was found in her off-campus apartment, the victim of a brutal assault by her former boyfriend. The murder sent shockwaves throughout the campus, and was a wake-up call for the entire country about the horrific nature of relationship violence. Yeardley’s mother, Sharon Love, has since pledged to bring meaning to this devastating loss by starting the One Love Foundation, an organization whose mission is to raise awareness about the consequences of relationship violence.
